"The State Department will not recognize me as a duly accredited diplomatic representative," concluded Dr. Castrillo, "and, according to diplomatic procedure this is correct. But I shall stay here it Washington, whence I am constantly informing my government of the situation. The American people, I am convinced, are with us. Ten days or two weeks more, however, will tell the story. The situation then will be ours."

CONVENTION PLAN

President the men whom we think are best suited to govern us."

Mr. Shannon pointed out the fact that the President was being flooded with thousands of letters from citizens, indorsing various men for Commissioners, and that the convention plan would bring order out of the incoherent mass of testimonials with which the President now has to deal.

"I want to see the citizens of the District use the right of petition, which surely is theirs. The President wants us to use it." The House wants us to use it. The House wants us to use it. "I would like to ask Mr. Shannon,"

CALDERA REPORTS

"I would like to ask Mr. Shannon," said Joseph Weller, "what his authority is for saying the President wants us to petition him."

Speech By Taft.

Mr. Shannon replied by referring t the statement made by the President at the citizens' dinner last spring, in the citizens' dinner last spring, in which he said at all times he desired an expression of the citizens of the District upon matters affecting their interests.

"The most recent example of the President's attitude in this respect," said Mr. Shannon, "is the article appearing in The Times this afternoon, to the effect that he has said he will consider the names that may be presented to him by the Chamber."

Mr. Weller then asked Mr. Shannon how he would gauge representation in the convention, to which the latter replied that without having gone thoroughly into the details of the plan, it was his opinion one delegate for every fifty members in all the citizens' associations and other organizations participating in the convention would be a fair basis of representation.

Speaking of the question of whether the chamber would be exceeding the bounds of propriety to recommend to the President candidates for Commissioners, Mrr Saul ridiculed it, declaring that if persons, individually, could petition to the President, he saw no reason why they could not do so, collectively.

Commissioner May Go.

Though the idea of a commission was scouted, it was said it was possible the United States might send a commissioner to Nicaragua.

T. C. Dulin said he was in favor of the Shannon resolution, but had not the Shannon resolution, but had not fully made up his mind as to the best way it could be carried out.

Edward H. Droop referred to Mr. Sinclair's suggestion that the matter be referred to the full Chamber, and said he did not think a mistake would be made in pursuing that course. Chapin Brown thought the resolution impracticable, and Capt. James F. Oyster said he believed it was an inopportune time to undertake it.

Mr. Porter took a conservative view while Mr. Rudolph did not take the floor until after the resolution had been withdrawn.

In presenting his second resolution Mr. Shannon, at first, proposed that the board of directors authorize the Chamber to present six names to the President. The number was changed to four, then to five, and, finally, it was decided to make no recommendation at all regarding the number to be chosen.

church. There was also the usual Dr. Salvador Castrillo, diplomatic reportaning of necks as the distinguished resentative in Washington of the provisional government of Nicaragua, announced today that from advices re-ceived by him he was justified in making the prediction that within the next ten days the insurrectionists, who are striving to force the abdication of Presi ient Zelaya, would be in command at the Nicaraguan capital and in full conrol of the entire machinery of the Nic-the Nicaraguan capital and in full control of the entire machinery of the Nicaraguan government.

Dr. Castrillo said he had received a dispatch from his colleagues in Nicaragua as fellows:

"It is undoubtedly the intention of Zelaya to go into seclusion. He plans to put either Irlas, minister; or Madriz, now at Costa Rica, in the presidential chair until the present excitement, involving estrangement with the United States Government, subsides. He will then return and take up the reins of government. He seeks immunity for his crimes."

In speaking of the whole situation today Dr. Castrillo said:

"Zelaya's plan is perfectly transparent. He wants to avoid responsibility for the execution of American citizens and for other crimes, yet he wants to retain his control over the affairs of Nicaragua. The orly way in which such a plan can be consummated is, as this dispatch states, by the appointment of either Irias or Madriz—both loyal followers of his—to the Presidency, until such time as he shall have been given opportunity to retire from the scene, or until all trouble blows over. Then he plans to return and reassume charge.

"However," continued Dr. Castrillo, "in the enforcement of that plan we will see he is frustrated. The fact is I have advices which make it clear to me the provisional forces are in such advantageous position that they will be able to assume complete control of affairs in Nicaragua within two weeks at the most. Putting my own interpretation upon the situation, I should say Zelaya sees the handwriting on the wall and is preparing to expatriate himself before the situation gets too uncomfortable.

"He has plenty of money at his command, and Americans can be assured to him strongly. Coming so late, he said, after so many candidates had been announced, he doubted if it would be possible for the Chamber to work, out a plan by which two men could be selected.

R. P. Andrews suggested that a primary instead of a convention be held. Though the hominees and their names could be presented to the President, Mr. Andrews asia.

Robert N. Harper pointed out the difficulty of holding a convention.

Scott C. Bone said he would dislike to see the Chamber become the champion of the convention plan. He believed the difficulties to be encountered in carrying it out were too numerous. Mr. Bone rrought the primary plan could be carried out of the convention plan. He believed the difficulties to be convented in carrying it out were too numerous. critical, and he never intended—nor has he ever attempted—to abide by its provisions. The law affecting the executions is entirely clear, and in proceeding as he did Zelaya unmistakably and unequivocally violated it.

"The law provides if any citizen or public servant of Nicaragua shall attempt to usurp the government he may be convicted of treason, but that if any such person as Cannon or Groce, neither of whom was a Nicaraguan citizen or servant, should violate the law he should not be amenable to execution. Neither Cannon nor Groce was in the service of the government and, therefore, neither of them could be executed according to law. The American State Department is acquainted with this fact.
